SEE YOURSELF

SEE YOURSELF AT SFU

See yourself emerging.

See yourself questioning, challenging, adjusting, and changing the world in the here and now.

See your potential and the potential of everyone around you.

See yourself.

In study groups, in sports, in social clubs, at events, and all around campus.

See your future self emerging in a place that grows with you. Where you're inspired to think for yourself. A living and breathing place of learning that fits you, instead of forcing you to fit in.

CHALLENGE YOURSELF

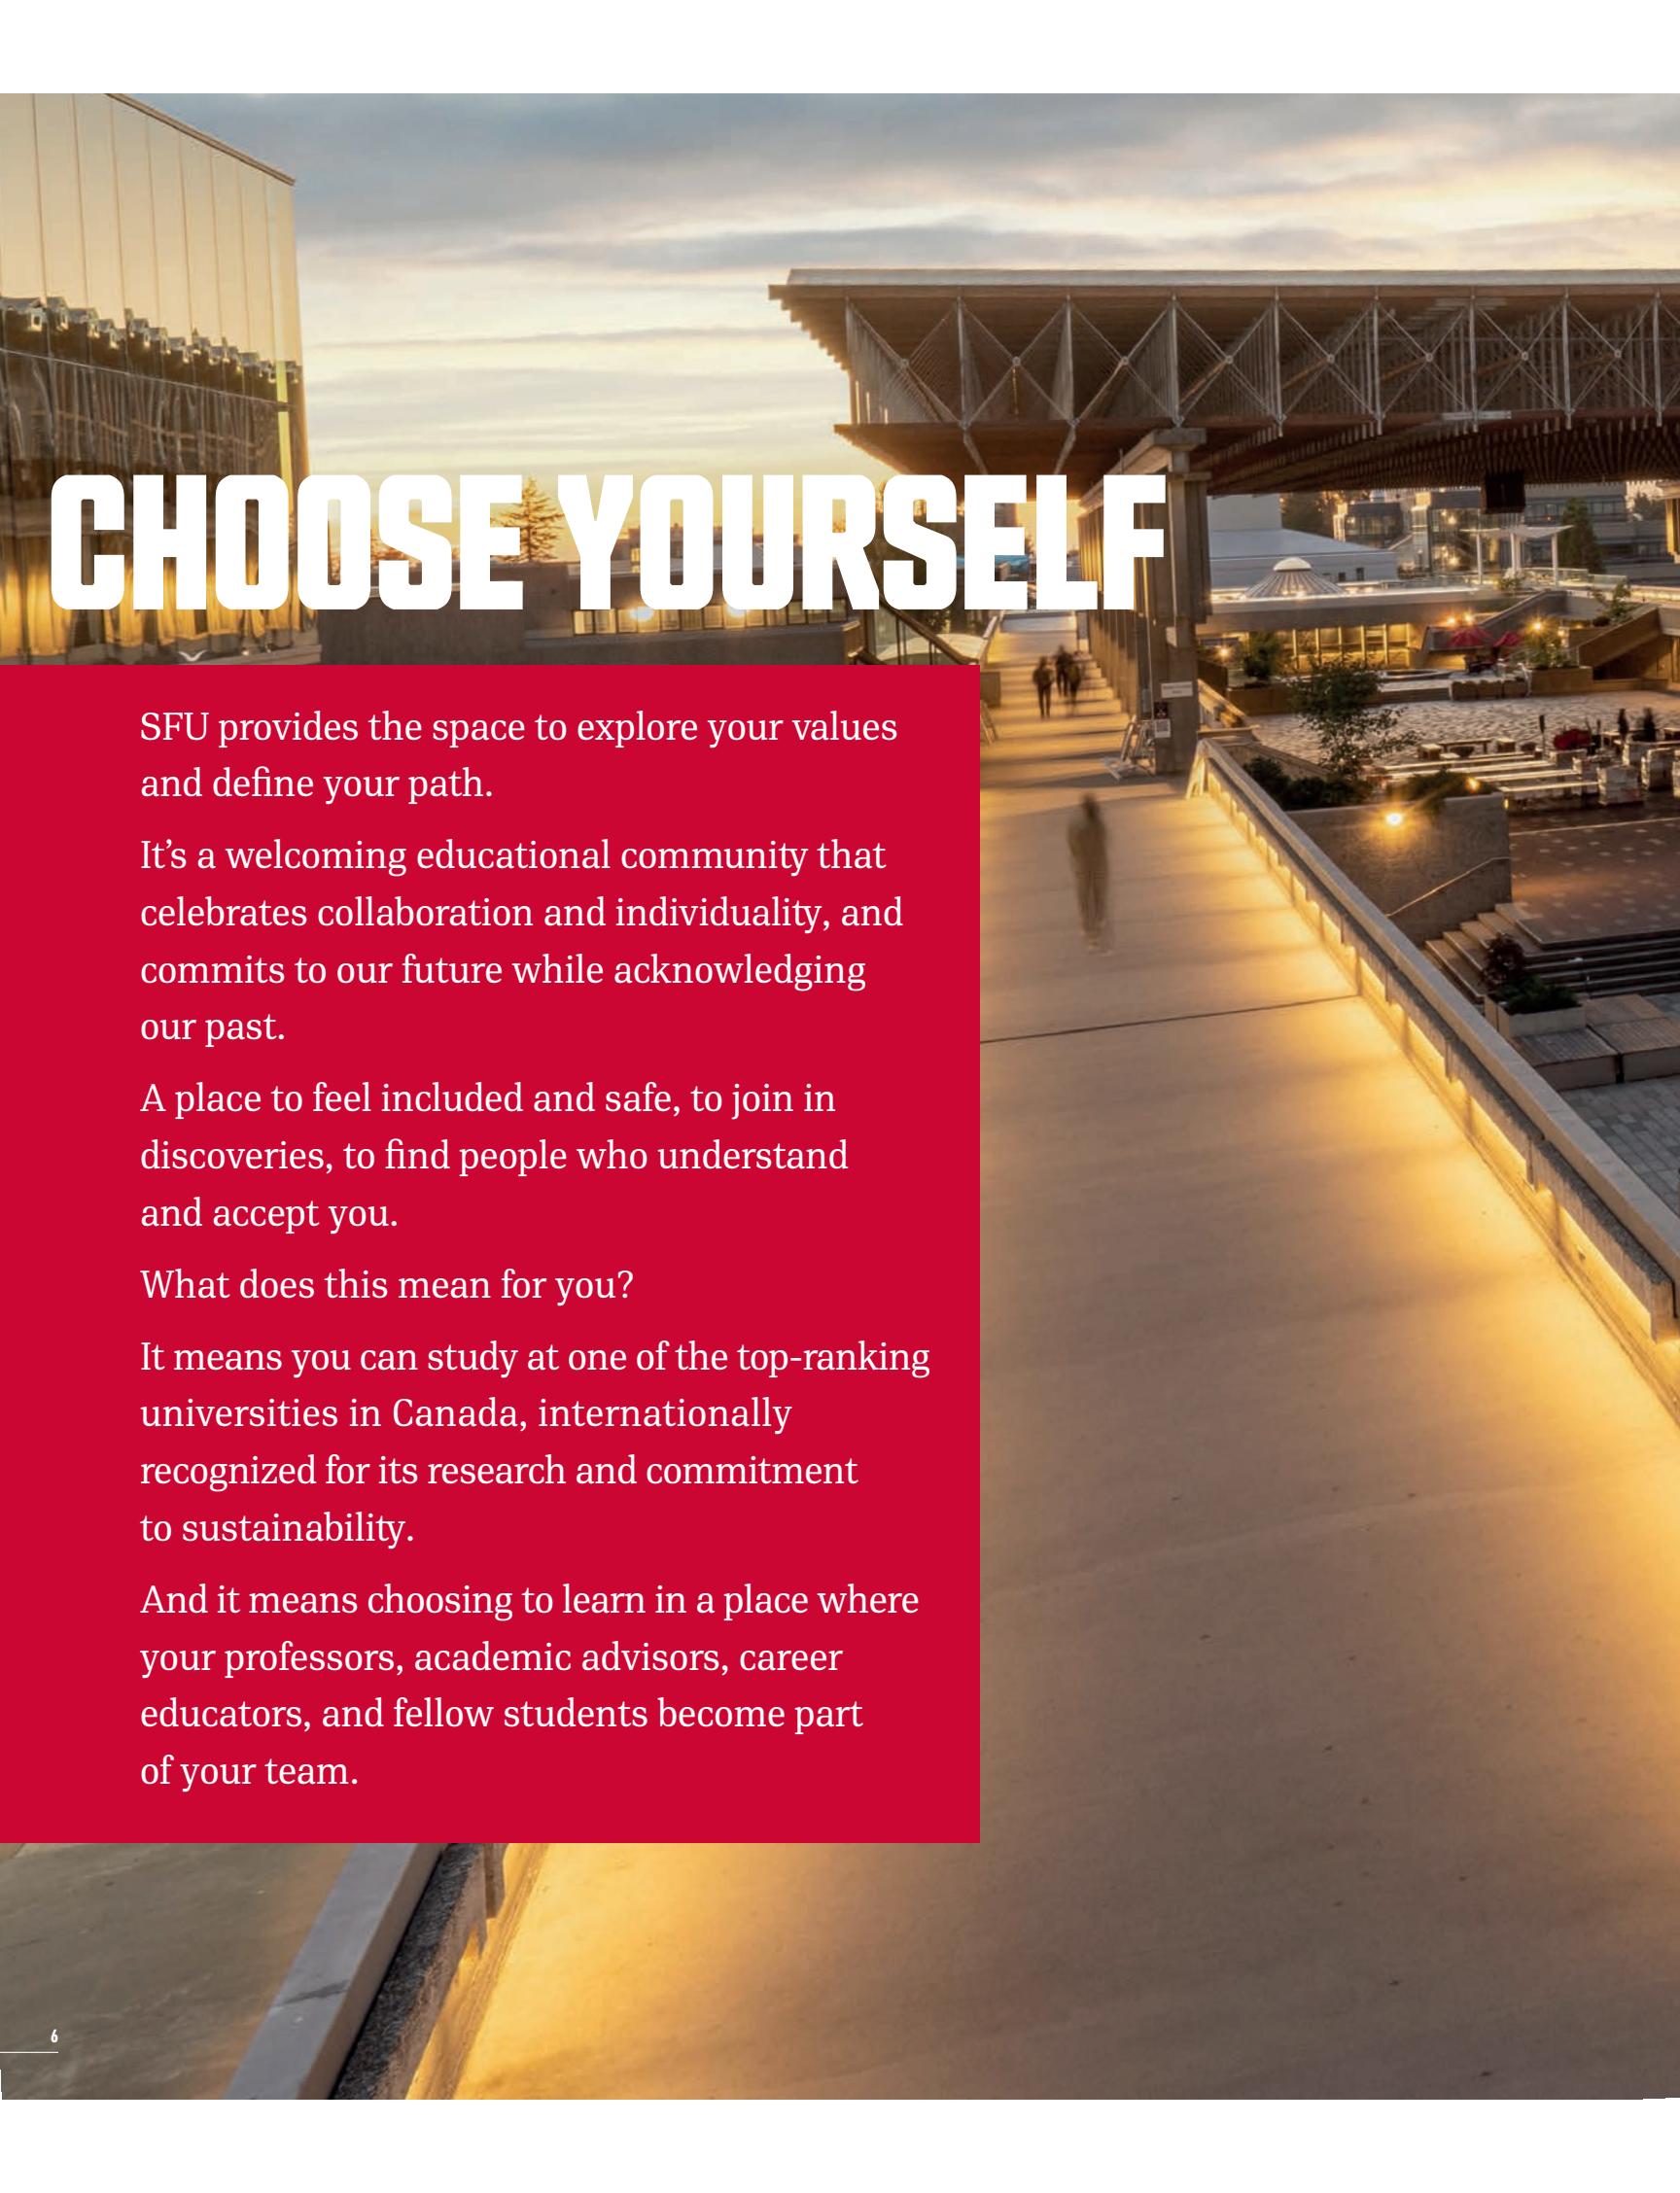

GOLROKH NOURI
FACULTY OF SCIENCE

Golrokh came to SFU to compete as a wrestler and study mathematics in the Faculty of Science. After an on-campus work opportunity unexpectedly provided a valuable lesson about career aspirations, a professor advised her to apply her math background to anything she wanted. Her interest in neuroscience and pharmacology led to work on federally funded research, using her math skills to improve our understanding of drug tolerance. Thanks to this independent research, Golrokh discovered a new passion and unlocked new career goals.

“Individual independent research taught me all the things I didn’t think I needed. Once you initiate it, everyone is there to help. They either have the answers, or they tell you where to get them. I feel so lucky to have had that opportunity. I didn’t think it was something I could do.”

– Golrokh Nouri

CHOOSE YOURSELF

SFU provides the space to explore your values and define your path.

It's a welcoming educational community that celebrates collaboration and individuality, and commits to our future while acknowledging our past.

A place to feel included and safe, to join in discoveries, to find people who understand and accept you.

What does this mean for you?

It means you can study at one of the top-ranking universities in Canada, internationally recognized for its research and commitment to sustainability.

And it means choosing to learn in a place where your professors, academic advisors, career educators, and fellow students become part of your team.

SHARON KULAR
FACULTY OF HEALTH SCIENCES

When Faculty of Health Sciences student Sharon saw that she could apply to work for the Fraser Health Authority as a co-op student during the pandemic, she jumped at the chance. Not only was she able to support Fraser Health's response, but she also eventually oversaw general operations at a vaccine clinic. Sharon has gone on to mentor incoming SFU Health Sciences students, further volunteer work with the Fraser Health Authority, and a job at BC Children's Hospital. She recognizes that her vital field experience informed her ongoing studies and her aspirations to become a doctor.

"This work experience opened the door for me to make connections with nurses, doctors, pharmacists, as well as medical students. Meeting with numerous specialists in various healthcare professions helped me realize how much I love healthcare. I will always be grateful for having the chance to work with some amazing people, make lasting friendships, and be a part of a once-in-a-lifetime experience."

YOURSELF

Expand yourself beyond the traditional limits of classroom instruction.

Your student experience includes the clubs you join on campus, the friends you make, and the connections you build.

Education outside the classroom means learning opportunities with social enterprises, local businesses, and international corporations.

It means learning at partner institutions through our strong study abroad and exchange programs.

Whether you connect on campus, explore your community, or travel the globe, there is a world of opportunity awaiting you at SFU.

DEVELOP YOURSELF

CO-OPERATIVE EDUCATION

Try out a potential career path while helping to finance your education. Co-op at SFU is available to all undergraduates interested in developing skills and gaining work experience, no matter your field of study. Positions are available throughout BC and all over the world.

STUDY ABROAD

Travel the world and earn credit towards your SFU degree! Study at a partner institution or join a field school directed by an SFU instructor. Immerse yourself in the host country and culture, learn another language, and make amazing memories.

STUDY IN FRENCH

SFU offers diverses possibilités for anyone with an interest in the French language and francophone cultures. Whether it is through bilingual programs or elective courses taught in French, we provide opportunities to deepen your knowledge in both of Canada's official languages.

NURTURING ENTREPRENEURSHIP

Want to build a high-impact startup from scratch? Work collaboratively on solving real-world issues with students from other faculties? Activate any SFU degree through entrepreneurial programs that teach skills to help you stand out from the crowd.

STUDENT CLUBS

SFU is home to over 300 student clubs, associations, unions, peer support groups, and volunteer organizations. There is something for every interest imaginable. Join one – or start your own!

EMPOWER YOURSELF

We don't only want to fill your head with knowledge. We want to empower you to use that knowledge to make a difference.

From the moment you arrive at SFU, you'll have the opportunity to make a real difference in your classes, in your community, and in the world.

The next step is yours, and we cannot wait to see what you do.

JUSTIN YU

FACULTY OF COMMUNICATION,
ART AND TECHNOLOGY

Justin transferred to SFU specifically for the School of Interactive Arts and Technology, recognizing that "It's one of the only university programs in Canada that provides you with the necessary skills to become an amazing designer in today's digital media industry."

He wanted to maximize his experience at SFU, so he put his design skills to use destigmatizing mental health during a co-op position with SFU Health and Counselling. He also expanded his student experience through our many opportunities to connect with other students on campus outside of class. Each of SFU's three campuses is a dynamic community bustling with a wide range of activities.

Justin is now an executive of SFU's popular Anime Club and a member of several other student clubs. He appreciates that by doing what he loves, he can find his people.

"Joining clubs is a great way to meet and connect with people who have similar hobbies, niches, and interests. My time at SFU Anime has helped me make lifelong friends and unforgettable memories."

– Justin Yu

FIND YOURSELF HERE

When you make any one of our campuses your academic home, it is the beginning of the rest of your life.

In your pursuit of practical knowledge, you take a breadth of courses that both intrigue and challenge you, resulting in personal discovery.

By expanding your learning outside the classroom, you develop skills that will improve your job prospects and make an impact on your community.

You find that one thing leads to another as your experiences here manifest connections and opportunities you never imagined.

Whether it's learning in class or on a work co-op, a friendship you make in a school club or at a university event, you can find yourself, here at SFU.

FIND YOUR PLACE

See yourself in a young, diverse, cosmopolitan centre, surrounded by ocean, mountains, and rain forest.

A place where you can leave your mark. A place renowned for creativity, world-class food, and a culture of innovation. A place working to understand what it means to be located in the unceded traditional territories of several First Nations.

See yourself in Metro Vancouver's vibrant communities and events, or harness your inspiration and enthusiasm to create them yourself.

See yourself here.

What will your life be like as an SFU student?

FIND YOUR FOUNDATION

It's one thing to learn.

It's another to thrive and grow.

At SFU, we look after the whole learner.

We care about your academic success, and we also want to enrich your life.

From wellness to recreation, study support to degree planning, co-operative learning to career mapping.

We have services, supports, resources, and advisors here to help and guide you.

ADVISING

First year students come from different walks of life and have different questions. SFU has advisors for academics, financial guidance, and international student support. These advisors can help you plan your degree to meet your program requirements, and consult on your personal, professional, and educational goals.

HEALTH AND COUNSELLING

More than just your campus doctor's clinic, Health and Counselling offers a wide range of medical, mental health, and counselling services, as well as events to inspire creativity and community connections.

LEARNING COMMONS

Supporting your academic success with resources like research assistance, workshops to improve study habits, and feedback on writing assignments. Learning Commons helps students from all academic backgrounds find their voice and strengthen their learning skills.

FINANCIAL AID AND AWARDS

SFU has a team to help you understand the differences between awards, bursaries, loans, and scholarships. They can also review available funding sources to minimize any financial challenges that arise during your studies.

ACCESSIBLE LEARNING

SFU is committed to the full participation of students with disabilities in all aspects of academic life. The Centre for Accessible Learning supports equal participation by helping to arrange reasonable academic accommodations and services for students with disabilities.

INDIGENOUS STUDENT CENTRE

A community to welcome self-identified First Nations, Métis, and Inuit students with cultural and holistic programming, academic and financial advising, tutoring and peer cousins, an Elders program, and several on-campus student spaces.

INTERNATIONAL SERVICES FOR STUDENTS

Fostering global connections with the local community. No matter your journey here, you'll feel at home thanks to our Global Student Centre, which offers peer-support programs, social activities, and dedicated advising services for adjusting to life while studying in Canada.

MULTIFAITH CENTRE

Feel a sense of belonging to an engaged community that enables you to express and practice your beliefs. The Multifaith Centre is here to support your spiritual well-being through activities, discussion groups, and interfaith dialogues.

These are just some of the many supports and resources available to SFU students.
