EVENTS & ANNOUNCEMENTS

- Today is National Indigenous Peoples Day! Try some Bannock Tacos from the cafeteria or come join the Kahoot in the Library at lunch. Enjoy the sound of the drums and the Coast Salish Welcome Song.
- Cassie Robinson and Xavier Poon please come to Office to claim your After Grad Prize
- If you have any batteries that you were thinking of throwing out, please drop them off to Ms. Brisbin in the office and the Environment Club will test their charge to see if they're still useful and recycle them for you if they're not.
- Did you know that around 94 Indigenous communities across Canada are affected by drinking water advisories? This means that numerous Indigenous communities don't have access to clean and safe drinking water. Let's make a change. Access to clean water is a human right. To learn more or donate to support safe drinking water for Indigenous communities, visit waterfirst.ngo.
- To raise awareness and support research for cancer in BC, an online fundraiser has been set up to help the BC Cancer Foundation. Visit @bccancerawareness on Instagram for more information on how to donate.
