Principally Speaking

Hello Glenayre families,

It has been a stressful week in our school community and district. I wanted to take some time to debrief and share what I can.

Wednesday afternoon, we received a phoned-in threat. We quickly enacted our safety protocols, and learned it was happening to multiple sites. Port Moody police responded quickly and deemed our building to be safe. Students and staff stayed in 'hold and secure' in classrooms while this was happening. This is different from 'lockdown', and we were not in lockdown at any time. Nothing dangerous was found at our school, nor did anyone try to enter our building.

In matters of public safety, both the district as a larger entity and us here at the school take direction from the RCMP/local law enforcement. As these incidents are currently under active investigation, they will not release or share many details. I understand this is frustrating for everyone. Some students have asked 'who did this' and 'why are they doing it' and those are questions I can't answer as I simply don't know. I can only reassure them that's it's the police's job to find out.

As far as our day to day goes here, no news is good news. If you don't hear from me, it's business as usual.

I am a parent myself. I completely understand people's frustrations and fears. If there is anything I can reassure you of, it's that I take the responsibility of my job very seriously. I understand that when you drop your children off here in the morning, you are expecting me and the other staff to keep them safe, and I never forget that. Thank you for trusting me.

Please ensure that sysadmin@myeducation.gov.bc.ca is marked as a 'safe sender' in your spam email filter. When I do a mass email to the community in emergent situations like these, I email from the MyEd BC website, not my district email address. If you did not receive my 3 emails Wednesday afternoon, it's because either your spam filter blocked it out, or we have the incorrect email address for you. Please email the office to update your contact information if this is the case.

Please take some time to decompress this weekend, and reach out if you or your children need support.

Ms. A. Wilcox, Principal

Real Acts of Caring

Next week is RAC (Real Acts of Caring) Week. You can do little acts of kindness for someone any time, but next week really celebrates this. See the link below for a list of RAC ideas.

This Week's Incident

In light of this week's events I thought I would share a few suggestions for how to talk to your child in case this is a conversation you wish to have. Please let me know if I can support you in any way

Here are a few suggestions for talking with children:

- Keep it simple and reassuring.
"Something happened nearby, and the school was being extra careful to keep everyone safe."
- Let your child guide the conversation.
Some children will want to talk a lot, while others may not bring it up at all.
- Validate feelings.
"It's okay to feel worried or confused. Adults are here to help keep you safe."
- Avoid sharing frightening details or speculation.
Children do best with clear, factual, age-appropriate information.
- Reinforce safety routines.
Remind them that schools practice these procedures so staff know exactly what to do.
- Watch for lingering anxiety.
Changes in sleep, appetite, or mood are normal at first, but if concerns continue, please reach out.
