Good Morning. I'm _____ and I'm _____ and these are the morning announcements.

Earth Day NEW

Yesterday around the world people took the opportunity to recognize Earth Day through different events to raise awareness to how best we as individuals and a collective group can help protect our world from further environmental hazards. Please take some time in your own lives to think about how you can make some simple adjustments to your daily routines to do things like: walk to school, turn off the running taps while brushing your teeth, reduce, recycle and reuse your lunch containers and help our environment. Earth Day should be every day, as we only have one Earth.
