Frequently Asked Questions

How is my child's eligibility for a publicly funded education determined?

Eligibility for a publicly funded education is based on the custodial parent/legal guardian and school-aged child maintaining ordinary residence in British Columbia. Even if the child is born in Canada, the custodial parent/legal guardian must be ordinarily resident in BC to qualify. Immigration status is relevant but does not determine ordinary residence.

What if I don't have all the required documents?

If you don't have all the required documents, the school will refer you to the School Board Office, located at 1080 Winslow Avenue in Coquitlam. The Board Office team will review your child's eligibility for a publicly funded education on a case-by-case basis with care and sensitivity.

I have a work permit/study permit. Is my child eligible for a publicly funded education in BC?

Some students whose custodial parents/legal guardians are temporary residents in the Coquitlam School District are eligible for a publicly funded education. Please review the Parent's Status in Canada Permit Requirements section for more information.

I am a refugee claimant/asylum seeker. Is my child eligible for a publicly funded education in BC?

Refugee claimants, asylum seekers, and refugees are eligible for a publicly funded education in BC. You can enroll your child in school while your claim/your child's claim is being processed.

Will you report my immigration status to federal immigration authorities?

Confidentiality of personal information is protected under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPPA). While the school district recognizes the federal government's legal jurisdiction over immigration matters, it is not the role of the school district to share immigration status information with external federal agencies unless legally ordered to do so.

I don't speak English well. Who can help me?

Coquitlam School District has a team of Settlement Workers in Schools (SWIS workers). SWIS workers provide language-based service to our new immigrant families. Our current team offers services in Cantonese, Mandarin, Farsi, Dari, Spanish, Portuguese, Russian, Korean, and Arabic. You can phone our SWIS workers at +1 (604) 945 7311 or send an email to SWISsecretary@sd43.bc.ca.
