DIRECTIONS 2025: ACTION PLAN FOR LEARNING

Roy Stibbs Elementary

Reflection

While we have always worked towards improving the writing skills, self-regulation skills and the understanding and implementation of First People's Principles of Learning, the process this year of creating the goal areas of the APL has made a tremendous difference.

We consider ourselves to be at the beginning of our journey and have many things in place to start the new school year to help us stay focused on these cross blended and meaningful goals.

We have grouped all 3 goals under the thematic umbrella of "We all belong here" which will give us the "Why" behind what we are working towards.

Because we all belong here..

We need to be better at using our writing skills (communication with each other)

We need to be better at self- regulation (respect the learning space of others)

We need to have a better understanding of the land and peoples who have lived here before us so we can continue the stewardship of it's importance and history.

These goals were decided through intentional analysis of behaviour patterns/student needs, targeted observation, discussions with community members, research and professional development with Indigenous leaders/educators and their stories. We have created some new structures for staff meetings, parent newsletters and school-wide interactions/events that will keep us focused on moving forward in all 3 goal areas in very realistic, meaningful ways.
