Novel Notes (including quotes & page numbers)

- Kelsey, the seat of her jeans steaming from the fire, was starting in on ~~Isaac~~ ^{Isaac}. "Hinu deserves better than you. You and your stupid ATVs!" pg 46
- Saving them had to be more important than fighting the fire. pg 47
- "Look! The fire's reached the cliff!" pg 48
- A lick of orange curled up one trunk, and the treetop puffed into flames. pg 48
- Burning needles exploded outwards, faded to black as they whirled into the gulf beyond the cliff. pg 48
- Spitting cracklings reached them. The gully had saved them, all right. pg 48
- Trees tossed and whirled in the updrafts of that flames danced above the tall crowns vanishing into purple rolls of smoke. Wind swept the fire aside for a second, so black skeletons of trunks and branches stood against a backdrop of swirling orange that surged back to swallow them. "Rampart of flames" (pg 49)
- "From now on, it was all about time." pg 55
- The smoke filled sky over it churned evil and foul. It would be years before this land could be made whole & green again. As he watched, Garth promised himself he would never do anything to harm a single tree, for as long as he lived.
