I got into a philosophical dinner conversation a few weeks ago. A friend was visiting and he stated that school was “way better” when he was in elementary school. He is not connected to education, nor does he have kids in school. His position was based on his memory that children were more disciplined; that school work was harder; and kids were expected to learn. He reminisced about sitting in rows; adding/subtracting for arithmetic; writing a report about Bobby Orr; learning the ‘ph’ sound and how he feared “the strap”.

I quickly jumped in and added to his list.

Perhaps he truly missed the purple mimeograph ink; chalk dust under the fingernails; getting rejected when he asked a girl to dance at the Grade 7 sock hop; using a World Book Encyclopedia; and his David Cassidy haircut.

The education we received in the 70’s and 80’s could not have prepared us for the challenges that our students will face in 10 years. There are emerging jobs and technologies now, that did not exist 30 years ago, or even 5 years ago.

There are some tried and true methods of teaching that have been around for a long time; but there are also new approaches that tap into our understanding of the brain. There is research about how the brain learns and processes information. We know that students are more visual learners than auditory learners. Learning can be expressed in multiple ways, aside from just pencil and paper.

At Walton, I try and pop into each classroom daily or every other day. I am excited by the activities that I see. I see a mix of critical thinking along with collaboration.

Our conversation concluded with my summary that education today should be preparing our students for their future. Our current kindergarten students will graduate in 2025.
SMARTBOARD ACTION

Interactive whiteboards can be a wonderful learning tool! Mr. Chiang and Ms. Evans use the Smartboard to enhance their lessons in Mandarin and English as shown in these photos. Mrs. Ho-ang, Mrs. Vanderliek and Ms. Wegrich also use the smartboard effectively in their lessons! The white board’s versality allows for instruction in both English and Mandarin.

QUESTIONS OR CONCERNS? WHO DO YOU CALL?

Any question or concerns regarding a child’s progress at school should be directed to the classroom teacher. We want parents to be able to dialogue directly with the teacher to help resolve or address any concerns.

LITTLE PEAR GARDEN PERFORMANCE, FRIDAY, MARCH 7

The Little Pear Garden Dance Company performed at Walton on Friday, March 7th. The group presented six dances, from different ethnic regions around China. One of the important aspects of learning a language is learning the culture!

Guess what? Walton turns 25 next October!

Contact the teacher should you have any questions or concerns about your child’s progress.

4 SQUARE RULES

It is one of the most popular games on our playground. There are accepted rules at our school but some of our students will loosely interpret the rules. This leads to problems on the playground as children change the rules to favour themselves or their friends. 4-Square should be a fast moving and enjoyable game.

4 Square Rules:
The ball can only be hit with the hands.

There is no grabbing or “Cherry bombing”. When students “Cherry Bomb”, the ball is thrown very hard and does not allow a fair chance of returning the ball.

SPRING BREAK IS COMING – PLEASE LOOK AFTER THE SCHOOL

The school in your neighbourhood will be empty during spring break between March 15 – March 30, 2014. Empty schools can provide an inviting target for vandals. You can help keep the school safe.

What You Can Do

Keep your eyes and ears open for suspicious activities on the school grounds. Signs of trouble include late night trespassers and the gathering of unorganized groups of people.

Everything you see and hear helps. Note the physical characteristics and clothing of individuals. If you see automobiles, jot down license plate numbers.

Report All Suspicious Activities to the Vandal Watch Tip Line

604-927-7600

Call immediately when something raises your suspicions.
Do not wait for the damage to be done.

Your Call is Anonymous and Confidential

No one will ask for your name or phone number. The Tip Line is available 24 hours a day. Security personnel will investigate and will take action or involve the police. Do not get involved in a confrontation yourself.
