

JOB ACTION UPDATE

Sept. 14, 2011

- During Phase 1 job action, teachers will continue to carry out their normal classroom duties, including delivery of the BC curriculum
- During this phase, teachers will not be required (under the Labour Relations Board Essential Services Act) to participate on any administration or school district organized meetings; to supervise students before and after school, at recess and lunch hour (teachers in Coquitlam have had a duty-free lunch for two decades); prepare or distribute formal report cards; or conduct administratively organized parent/teacher interviews
- As the safety of students always remains a top priority, administrative and management personnel are providing student supervision at recess and are assisting with bus supervision as identified
- CUPE support staff are performing their duties as usual
- Should parents have concerns about their child's progress, they are encouraged to ask questions of their child's teacher directly, as teachers will not be providing formal written reports or conducting administratively organized parent/teacher interviews
- The District will strive to preserve respectful relations with all its partner groups during job action, while meeting our obligation under the School Act to educate students
