Christmas in Halloween town by: Maya Elisabeth Erceg

Chapter 1

You might have already heard of the tale of Rudolf the red nose reindeer or Kris Cringle but this is a story like none author it took place in a town called Halloween Town. To this day it might still exist. Anyway, the story all started when a girl named Marnie and a girl named Maya saved Halloween town about 3 times. But any way let's stop talking about the characters and start talking about the story. So in Halloween town they were getting ready to celebrate because Marnie and Maya saved the town again but Marnie and Maya did not want to be celebrated so they went back to her town and threw the portal but what she did not know was that it was Christmas so when she arrived in her home town everybody shouted Mary Christmas! Marnie and Maya jumped and then they said to each other and said maybe we can tell all the monsters in Halloween town to have Christmas, but before they could finish there sentence Jago the smartest guy in the world came over and said Maya just because you and Marnie are good witches doesn't mean you can go through the portal and tell them about Christmas it could fracture the nature between both worlds you have to give them scientific details about Christmas and Marnie said were are we going to find a person.

who know scientific details about Christmas and Jago replied you're looking at that person and Maya said Ok and Jago started talking about scientific details about Christmas and he was over flooding my brain with knowledge so we put tape on Jago's mouth for the hole portal ride. Finally when we arrived in Halloween town we looked for the creatures of Halloween town but none of them were around we looked high and low but the creature of Halloween town were no were to be found. Then Maya heard a sound and exclaimed Maya hey guys did you hear that>> and the other's herd it too and then they heard footsteps and then started to run. Then we saw a shadowy figure that looked like a monster. The shadow was talking to us and said if you want to save Christmas then be my guest but the only way to find your friends is to go on a quest. What the shadow said sounded like a retille, then the shadow disappeared and then we talked and talked and then we decided to go on a quest so we went back to their town hopping to find Gabriella and Kyla they did but everybody else was nowhere to be found and Jago started talking about scientific facts so luckily I brought some duct tape with me but my mom said it was only for emergencies but this was an emergencies Jago was overfunding my brain again then we started the quest.

Myles's Contest

Ok, here's my contest. Whoever wants to make a poster for the newspaper would probably like this contest. There will be 4 prizes to be won. Just remember to put your division number and your name on the back of your poster.

Sincerely , Myles Collingwood
