Today is the start of the Lunar New Year. For East and Southeast Asian cultures, this is the most important holiday of the year. Families gather together and eat traditional foods. While noodles and potstickers are eaten daily, on New year the potstickers are shaped in the form of gold ingot coins. This year is the year of the Tiger and more specifically the water tiger. If you are born in a year of the water tiger you have the characteristics of a strong self-esteem and love of learning. Have a wonderful day!
